Paris Climate Action Contact

 Julie Robin

“ We are entering the sustainability revolution. We rely on the leadership of Salesforce and France to implement environmental initiatives responding to the urgency of climate change and to create a low-carbon future in France. Our leadership leads the way and inspires others to follow. Together we can tackle this equality problem and secure a future for all. Our program is to create a vast, lasting and systemic change, starting with robust strategies integrated into all French activities and operations. Salesforce France employees are our grassroots activists and inspire positive changes in their communities. We give them the tools and the inspiration to succeed as environmental ambassadors. We support our French customers in their environmental success. ”
